

ITEM 5.3.2 | ROBUSTNESS

The system must be engineered so that it does not break down upon foreseeable peaks of usage, user error, data corruption, or other stress. The system's design must provide redundancy to eliminate a single point of hardware failure from interrupting CAPS availability to the court users.

